Go-to Spanish wines recommended by the Decanter team

Who better than staff members from across the various Decanter departments to share their drinking inspiration? Eleven from the team, including Spain Regional Editor Ines Salpico, have picked Spanish wines that they enjoy and recommend heartily for your enjoyment any time of the week – priced at up to £25 a bottle.

Why? Produced from Macabeu, Xarel.lo, Parellada and, since 2023, Malvasia de Sitges. Crunchy fruit, a flinty lining and delicious texture make this an elegant yet no-nonsense fizz – very much like its winemaker Pepe Raventòs.

When? I love opening this on a Saturday afternoon while cooking. It then transitions easily into the first course of a fish dinner.

With whom? With my partner, while preparing a meal together.

Paired with? All things seafood, soft cheeses, freshly baked bread dripping with olive oil. Oysters are a must.
